

Green Is The Season's Favourite Colour

Paris, by Air Mail.

WITH this season's successes in full swing, with a definite trend towards opulence in clothes and accessories, from hats to footwear, with new clothes distinctly and only for afternoon, with new streamlines, new waistlines, new necklines, intricate drapery and stirring, feminine clothes are about to remake the former rather casually-dressed woman into an alluring decorative lady.

It's fun to shop in Paris these days, and still more fun to see those provocatively fragile clothes, the French suits — designed for streamlines and a woman's active life, costumes, coats, and the most interestingly fashioned ensembles which are now on display.

It takes genius and exacting discrimination to pick models which will suit one from the extensive array. It takes a fine knowledge of what will be worn and of what won't be worn, it necessitates unfailingly good judgment, a proper enthusiasm for beautiful textiles, and an intuitive sense of colour and colour-contrasts to contrive to pick unerringly the exciting clothes that are first rate, top-notched. But it can be done—and it has been done.

And colour? What is the big favourite in the colour calendar this season? Green, always green—and green it is again. Moss green, tilleul, water green, jade green, grass green, absinthe green, there's no end to greens, and they are always beautiful.

In spite of the flourish with which reds of every tone were sponsored in the first fashion showings this season, it is green which is carrying away the palm at the moment. The great Paris houses console themselves that red will probably come into its own later in the year.

But, in the meantime, the work-rooms are full of green with naturally a good proportion of black, for, as everyone knows, the Parisienne is never happy unless she has a good collection of black dresses in her wardrobe.

Green is the soothing colour, red the most irritating. Purple is not a stimulating colour. It is deadening and robs the natural colouring of vitality. It bleaches by contrast.

People with sallow skins should avoid colours which tend to additional yellowing. Any colour in which purple predominate casts a yellow shadow. Look at a bright purple for ten seconds, then look away at a wall or black paper—you'll see a yellowish cast.

Black silhouettes the figure sharply, more sharply than any other colour—so that if there is any overflowing avoirdupois, it is apt to be emphasised.

Black satin, as usual, crowds out other colours for evening wear, unless it is the newest "ink-blue," a blue which is lighter and more lifelike than navy. Fitted satins which sweep the floor or swirl around the ankles with fullness introduced just below the hipline, with high front-necklines subtly draped and with deep decoltees are made with enchanting little fitted jackets of pale colours, white or of silver.

These jackets have smart little peplums, the briefest of sleeves, tiny satin-faced revers and fold-over collars. Tiny, covered buttons streak down the centre front and keep them snugly fitted to the ribs.

Beauty and You

by PATRICIA LINDSAY

Fascinating Irene Dunne makes it a practice to smile when she answers her telephone. That is why her voice transmits so warmly.

ARE YOU CONSCIOUS OF YOUR TELEPHONE MANNERS?

The other day a very dear friend suggested I get a new secretary. I was surprised, as my secretary is most efficient and I am very satisfied with her. "Just why?" I asked him.

"She is definitely obnoxious over the telephone. I always hesitate calling you because her manner is so surly. One would think I was a book salesman instead of your friend!"

So I made other inquiries. Asked other friends how they liked my secretary. To my surprise most of them said she might be efficient but she had the worst telephone manners in the world.

A Grave Problem

Now, a secretary represents the person for whom she is working. It is for his welfare that she is paid a salary. If he, like I, depends upon the good will of many people for success in a career, it is his desire that the girl answering his phone be courteous, patient, and helpful.

When you speak over the telephone you should always realise you are invisible. The person talking with you judges you only by your voice, how you speak and what you say.

Asking Favours

Constantly we use the telephone to ask favours of persons whom we probably have never met and are not likely to meet. Every business or profession finds it necessary to use the phone for this purpose. At such times be your most gracious, appreciative self. Get over to the other voice that you are very grateful—just as if he had delivered in person that for which you asked.

So I made other inquiries. Asked other friends how they liked my secretary. To my surprise most of them said she might be efficient but she had the worst telephone manners in the world.

I think every telephone operator, secretary, business woman and active society woman should learn how to create an impression over the telephone which would make all persons who speak with her anxious to meet her. "Miss So-and-so must be a lovely girl. She is so pleasant over the telephone!" Is that the impression you make?

What The Stars Foretell

By MARY BLAKE

Do not allow yourself to be imposed upon this day. There is always danger that your fingers will get burnt in trying to pull the chestnuts out of the fire for someone else. Most of this day's bickering and quarreling will be the outcome of selfish demands. Be careful of the requests you make, as well as the tone of voice used in making them. Disputing or questioning authority be very poor judgment also. With some habit of quick decision or indecision dominating your mind, you may greatly please or anger someone this day. Your inclinations should be carefully analyzed, before you follow them this day. Sounds may greatly affect dispositions; discordant ones are apt to put nerves on edge, while harmonious strains will prove very soothing. Married and engaged couples, and those whose hearts and thoughts are ruled by love, will do well this day to try to find the virtues, rather than the fault of those they love.

If a woman and September 20 is your birthday, if you let some ambition spur you to make great efforts your accomplishment might exceed your wildest dreams. Success is the usual reward for those born on this date and who adhere to a policy of hard work, instead of indulging in social activities. Achievement demands sacrifices of all forms of self-indulgence. The stage, lecture or concert platform, art studio, literary field or educational work are likely to provide the opportunity through which your best results might be obtained. In all likelihood marriage has a grand prize to bestow upon you.

HEROIN FACTORY INVESTIGATION AT STANLEY AT GOVERNMENT HOUSE

In a cleverly concealed matshed, in the undergrowth on a hillside on Stanley Peninsula, and covered with a large fishing net, four Chinese and a woman engaged in manufacturing heroin pills, according to charges preferred against them before the acting Chief Justice, Mr. Justice R. E. Lindsell at the Criminal Sessions this morning.

Mr. John Whyatt, Crown Counsel, revealed that when the police visited, the matshed, on information, they discovered 95,000 heroin pills, and 87 pounds of material sufficient to make over 50,000 additional heroin pills.

The persons charged were Chan Yee, widow, Leung Sze, Li Man-lok, Chan Cheung-ling, and Yiu Kaiming.

Mr. D. J. N. Anderson, instructed by Mr. M. A. da Silva, appeared for accused, and pleaded guilty on behalf of second and fourth.

The case is continuing this afternoon.

An investiture on the eve of the departure of Dr. Jackson was held at Government House this morning when His Excellency the Governor invested him with the insignia of an officer of the Order of the British Empire.

In attendance were members of the Executive and Legislative Councils and personal friends of Dr. Jackson.

His Excellency said:

Doctor Robert Best Jackson, I have it in command from His Majesty the King to invest you with the insignia of an Officer of the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire.

Since you came to this Colony some eight years ago as its malarialogist, after ten years of good service in the Medical Department of the Federated Malay States Government, there has been a steady reduction locally of the incidence of malaria, a disease which brings many disastrous ailments in its train; for this community owes to you a great debt of gratitude. Malariological work, however, is, for the most part, done out of sight and its effects are gradual and negative in nature although the benefits which it brings are most positive: for those reasons your patient and devoted labours are, perhaps, less well known than they deserve, and the success with which they have met is too little recognised.

The appreciation of your good service which His Majesty has shown by this appointment is, therefore, the more welcome and I am happy in having the privilege of investing you with these insignia of office.

Touch wood!

To certain early races of mankind the oak tree was sacred. They rushed to its shelter whenever danger threatened. Even to-day when we say "touch wood" we unconsciously seek similar protection.

To many thousands of people the Manufacturers' Life Insurance Company is giving not fancied but very real protection against economic dangers. Like a massive oak, this company has grown to strength from the scorn of small beginnings. Stable as the oak, it has weathered many a storm in the wars, epidemics and speculative panics of half a century.

To-day over 200,000 policy holders bear witness to the enviable position which the Manufacturers holds among the great Life Insurance Companies of the world.

CHINESE SUCCESSES ROUND MAHWEILING

Hankow, To-day.

Further successes around Mahweiling are reported in Chinese military despatches from the Kiukiang Front, but the Chinese forces have not launched a counter-attack on the Japanese defending Mahweiling, according to latest official communiques issued here.

The entire regions between Kiukiang and Tahan, and Kwangtsi and Hwangmei are afire with fierce military engagements, state reports this morning.

Meanwhile preparations round Hankow nearing completion, and fresh Chinese troops, who have been trained for twelve months under the supervision of foreign military experts, are manning the different fronts.—Our Own Correspondent.

JAPANESE MAROONED

Hankow, To-day.

Chinese successes are reported from several fronts. A part of the Japanese troops which took Wusueh on Saturday morning are marooned by flood waters.

In a series of counter-offensives, the Chinese have recaptured most important points east and west of Kwangtsi and are in complete control of the highway running between Kwangtsi and Hwangmei.

Chinese reinforcements are now rushing to the southwest of Kwangtsi to check a Japanese column which is seeking to join the Japanese at Wusueh.

Meanwhile, other Chinese units are helping to sandwich the enemy. Fierce fighting is said to be raging at Lianchiashan and Siangshan.

MAHWEILING RETREAT

Japanese evacuation of Mahweiling on the Nanchang-Kiukiang Railway is now confirmed in field despatches. Subjected to constant Chinese attacks, the Japanese are said to have withdrawn from the town. But as it lies in utter ruins after repeated bombardments, the Chinese have not re-entered.

The Japanese advance on the Yangtze front is making a slow and difficult progress, it is admitted in Japanese quarters.

The Chinese have covered the river with a field of mines about ten kilometres by log booms.

THE DAILY SHORT STORY

TRADITIONAL LETHARGY

ROD would have forsaken Sanborn-ridge as too tough a nut to crack if it hadn't been for Ella Dixon. Rod's business was waking small towns out of their lethargies and making them aware of their own charm. Heretofore he had worked on the theory that the more scornful a town was to his proposition the better he liked to go to work on it. But Sanborn-ridge had a defense so impenetrable that for the first time defeat actually stared him in the face. The defense was chiefly composed of something he presently identified as Yankee tradition. Sanborn-ridge was the first New England town he had ever tackled, and he soon discovered that the natives, without even going into a huddle over the matter, presented a united front of indifference.

Rod would have quit after the first week, but he met Ella Dixon who was the daughter of Uriah Dixon, the local banker. Ella gave him courage. "Ordinarily," she told him, "I suppose I'd be just like everyone else here—content with things the way they are. As it happens I've just returned from a motor tour of the United States, and Sanborn-ridge looks different to me. I mean, I noticed things I'd never no-confined in Rod. "What we must do is offer sight seers something definite. I've talked with mother, and she's willing to let me show our rose garden to visitors. It's an idea we can work on. We'll advertise Sanborn-ridge as the village of roses and give the impression that every year thousands of tourists come here because there's nothing like it anywhere around."

Rod thought that was a knockout idea and said so. He hammered away at it in all his propaganda, adding such phrases as the Garden Spot of New England, Quaintness and Beauty in the Traditional Setting of America's Founders.

Even then he had doubts, and so did Ella, because the citizenry of Sanborn-ridge showed themselves to be harder nuts than even Rod had guessed. Then one bright Sunday, when the roses in Bunker Dixon's garden were a profusion of gorgeous colour and sweet fragrance, a car stopped before the house, and people got out to look. Then another car stopped and another and another. Before noon there wasn't a parking space within a quarter of a mile of Bunker Dixon's residence.

Bunker Dixon was slightly annoyed, but Ella and Rod were delighted. So ticed before. The town has a peculiar charm, a quality of restfulness that is the product of antiquity. It has beautiful gardens and quaint homes and lots of other things." Her eyes clouded. "It also has a lot of poor people who are slowly starving because they're too proud to ask for relief."

Rod stared at her in amazement. "Why, say!" he cried, "That's exactly what I've been trying to point out to your hard-headed town fathers. My business is telling the rest of the world what you have, and bringing them here to see for themselves. Your poor people are only poor because of the same pride that's causing them to suffer right now."

"Look!" Rod, for the moment, forgot that Ella Dixon had lovely blue eyes and straw-coloured hair and an adorable mouth. "Look!" he repeated, "did you know that the American public is advertising-conscious? I mean, here in America unless a thing is advertised it doesn't have any value. People think they discover things by themselves, but they don't. Americans have to be sold on an idea. They have to have things pointed out to them in a manner that makes we can bring folks here, they'll do the rest."

"How much?" asked Ella, "do you need to advertise Sanborn-ridge?" "Five thousand dollars," Rod replied with hesitation.

But even the fact that Ella provided that amount of money wouldn't have meant success for Rod unless she had offered further collaboration. When citizens of Sanborn-ridge began to hear their town mentioned on the radio and saw it plastered on billboards and figuratively placed in a class of were Will Daniels, who ran the local drug store, and Osmund Sloane, who operated the only filling station in town. Those two did more business that Sunday than they had done all spring.

It was as though a charge of electricity had spurted through the town, dissipating drowsiness and disrupting inertia. When the next Sunday came around, there were signs out inviting tourists to visit other gardens, and all the stores in town were open and a couple of enterprising families advertised for overnight guests.

Rod and Ella couldn't have been more pleased. They foresaw a bright future for Sanborn-ridge. There would be no difficulty in raising money for future advertising appropriations. They knew that the village had wakened at last to realize its own charm, and was cashing in.

Sitting alone with Ella in the hammock under the maple tree in the rose garden a month later, Rod pondered on all these things and thought: "It was tough shaking them out of their traditional unawareness. But Ella's different. Ella understood. I wonder if it's going to be hard making her understand other things." And he turned to look at her, and decided almost at once it wasn't.

YOUTH'S ATTEMPT TO "FRAME" ENEMY

Tse Kam, 19, was this morning charged before Mr. H. R. Butters at the Central Magistracy with stealing a wrist watch and a wallet containing $12 from a bathing tent at Shek O on Sunday afternoon and with giving false information by accusing another person.

Defendant pleaded guilty and was sentenced to three months' hard labour on the first charge and fined $100 or three months' on the second. Inspector Wright said that Mr. W. G. Gitrin hired a tent on Sunday afternoon and while he was swimming the articles were stolen. Later in the evening defendant telephoned to the Police, after report of the loss had been made, and informed the Police that he knew the thief. He later went to the station and took Sergeant Campbell to Shek O where he pointed out Yeung Choi, a sanitary coolie, as the thief. It was dark, but defendant was able to point to the wallet which was found outside the hut. When questioned, defendant without hesitation stated that it was in the wallet. This roused the suspicion of the sergeant, who closely questioned defendant, who then admitted the theft.

The motive of the accusation appeared to be revenge over a recent fight but the Police took a serious view of the case.

LADY MOTORISTS FINED

At the Central Magistracy this morning, Miss B. M. Bichenko, of No. 11 Conduit Road, was fined $10 by Mr. H. R. Butters when she pleaded guilty by letter to speeding in Lockhart Road on September 7.

BRITAIN AS STOREHOUSE

The paper contributed to the British Association by Mr. J. M. Keynes on the storage of food-stuffs and raw materials in Britain outlines a bold and comprehensive policy. He drew attention to the "staggering fluctuations" that occur in the prices of the principal raw materials—in the case of rubber the difference between highest and lowest price in a year may be 96 per cent., in that of wheat 70 per cent.—and he put forward a plan that should not only have the effect of lessening the violence of the swing but of greatly increasing security in time of war. In brief his proposal is that Empire producers of specified raw materials should be offered storage facilities at a nominal charge provided they ship their surplus produce to approved warehouses. He points out that considerable stocks are constantly held overseas the transport of which would be a tax on shipping in emergency, and he urges that Britain might with advantage become the warehouse for "sugar from the West Indies, jute from India, wool from Australia, vegetable-oil products from West Africa, non-ferrous metals, and all the endless variety of Empire products that must be stored somewhere."

Mr. Keynes reckons that the cost of storage would average about 4 per cent. of the value of the goods, and that for an annual expenditure of £20,000,000 we could accommodate stuff to the value of £500,000,000. When it is remembered that the total amount recently spent by the Government on the purchase and storage of essential foodstuffs to tide the country over a first emergency is a mere £7,500,000, the scale of Mr. Keynes's proposal can be gauged. He considers that the annual cost would be "overwhelmingly worth while" in view of its return in the shape of security, stimulus to our export industries, increased control over the trade cycle, and insurance against having to pay excessive prices at a subsequent date.

The gain to our prestige and to our apparent security of so vast an accumulation of these liquid forms of wealth situated at home, an accumulation which others could not afford to imitate, would be worth in itself the really trifling expense. It would be a demonstration of reserve resources that would catch the imagination of the world. And the if it should also serve the cause of peace and prove to be a new and useful instrument in our armoury for the control (which will need more instruments than one) of the trade cycle, let no one complain.

It is a stimulating proposal and one that deserves every consideration.

An Ominous Egg

From the British Association arrives some inside information on the subject of sea-birds which seems to throw a certain light on why a duped person may be described as having been gulled. Somebody has been experimenting to see how far it is possible to go in the way of fooling black-headed gulls by taking away their eggs and giving them other articles to sit on. Under that treatment the simple-minded birds tried to hatch onions, golf balls, camphor balls, and reels of cotton, but drew the line at a cricket ball, though it is asserted by the experimenter that the selected bird did its best but simply could not balance itself on the top of so large a sphere.

That, of course, is only the experimenter's opinion. How does he know that the apprehensive bird did not fall off the cricket ball in horror at the sudden thought that if it sat there long enough it might hatch out another Verity or O'Reilly? Of course, if it could do that trick at Blackpool, so that the result would be qualified to play for Lancashire, the bird's performance would not only make a wonderful sideshow but be of real assistance at Old Trafford and elsewhere.

Frankness in Advertising

To tell the truth with arresting candour when seeking a situation is certainly not a new departure to the Bright Young Moderns of to-day, as witness this advertisement inserted in the "Morning Post" by a young man in 1889:

Will any rich person take a gentleman and board him? Of good family, age 27, good musician, thoroughly conversant with office work. No objection to turn Jew. Lost his money through dishonest trustee. Excellent writer.

This one appeared in the "Morning Chronicle" in 1807:

Patronage. Wanted, by a gentleman of high honour and character, a respectable official situation in England (either a sinecure or one which does not require constant attendance) for which an adequate compensation will be given, according to the annual produce.

From the employer's side, this piece of impertinence is hard to beat:

Wanted. A really plain but experienced and efficient governess for three girls. Music, French, German required. Brilliancy of conversation, fascination of manner, and symmetry of form objected to, as the father is much at home and there are grown-up sons.

This oddity comes from an old copy of the Paris "Figaro":

Wanted. A Professor to come twice a week to the home of a noble family in order to reform the pronunciation of a parrot.

LEAGUE AGREES TO APPLY ARTICLE 17 TO FAR EAST

Article 16 Should Be Applied Automatically If Japan Declines To Accept League Approach

Highly Interesting Situation Now Developing

Geneva, To-day.

It is understood that the League Council has decided to comply with China's request for application of Article XVII of the Covenant, and will approach Japan under the Article's provisions. Some Chinese circles in Geneva believe that one of the effects of the Council's decision will be to induce the United States to apply the Neutrality Act against Japan.

Dr. Wellington Koo, the chief Chinese delegate, presented China's appeal yesterday in clear-cut terms.

He recalled that in fourteen months China had appealed to the League four times to take action, while now the situation was far more aggravated and Japanese aggression greatly extended.

They now employed more ruthless and more atrocious methods, like poison gas and the mass slaughter of Chinese troops on an ever-increasing scale.

China had every reason to expect other member states to keep faith with her, as she had kept faith with them.

EMBARGO ON ESSENTIALS

Dr. Koo therefore urged application of Article XVII, and that full effect be given to previous resolutions. He particularly urged an embargo on essentials and measures to prevent the use of poison-gas and indiscriminate bombing.

Japanese observers in Geneva expect Japan to reply but with a refusal of the invitation.

If thereafter the League fails, as is expected, to effect automatic application of Article XVI, this will be the first official repudiation thereof.—Reuter.

JAPAN INVITED

Geneva, To-day.

Japan is to be invited to send representatives to the League of Nations to defend her position in the Far Eastern conflict, this being the outcome of a demand on part of China for invoking of article 17 of League covenant which deals with the regulation of controversies between member and non-member States.—Trans-Ocean.

GERMAN WAR VETERANS VISIT ENGLAND

Hamburg, To-day.

A group of 800 German war veterans will leave here to-day for a visit to England.

After being welcomed by a group of English war veterans, the German visitors will proceed to Westminster Hall where they will be received by the British Government. It is possible that the King himself may be present.

Other items on the programme include a visit to Parliament, and the placing of a wreath on the Cenotaph.

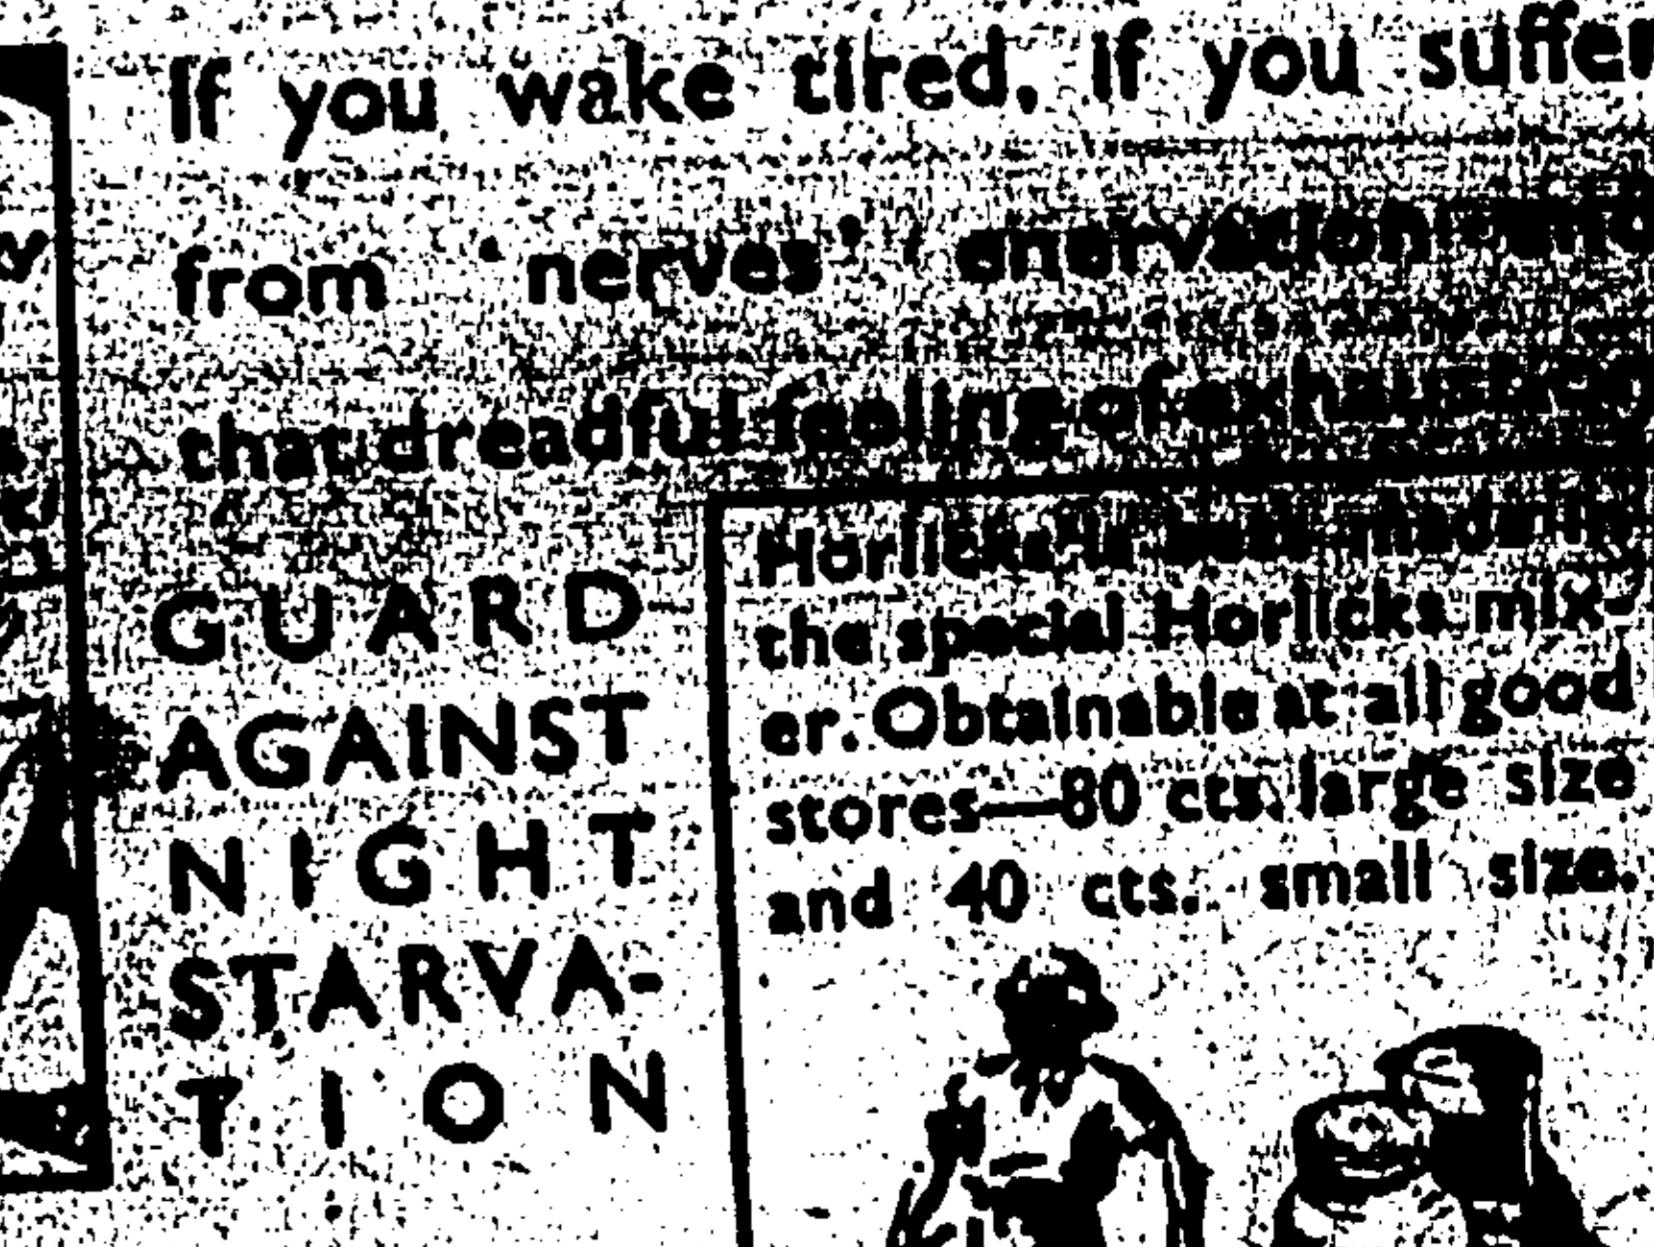

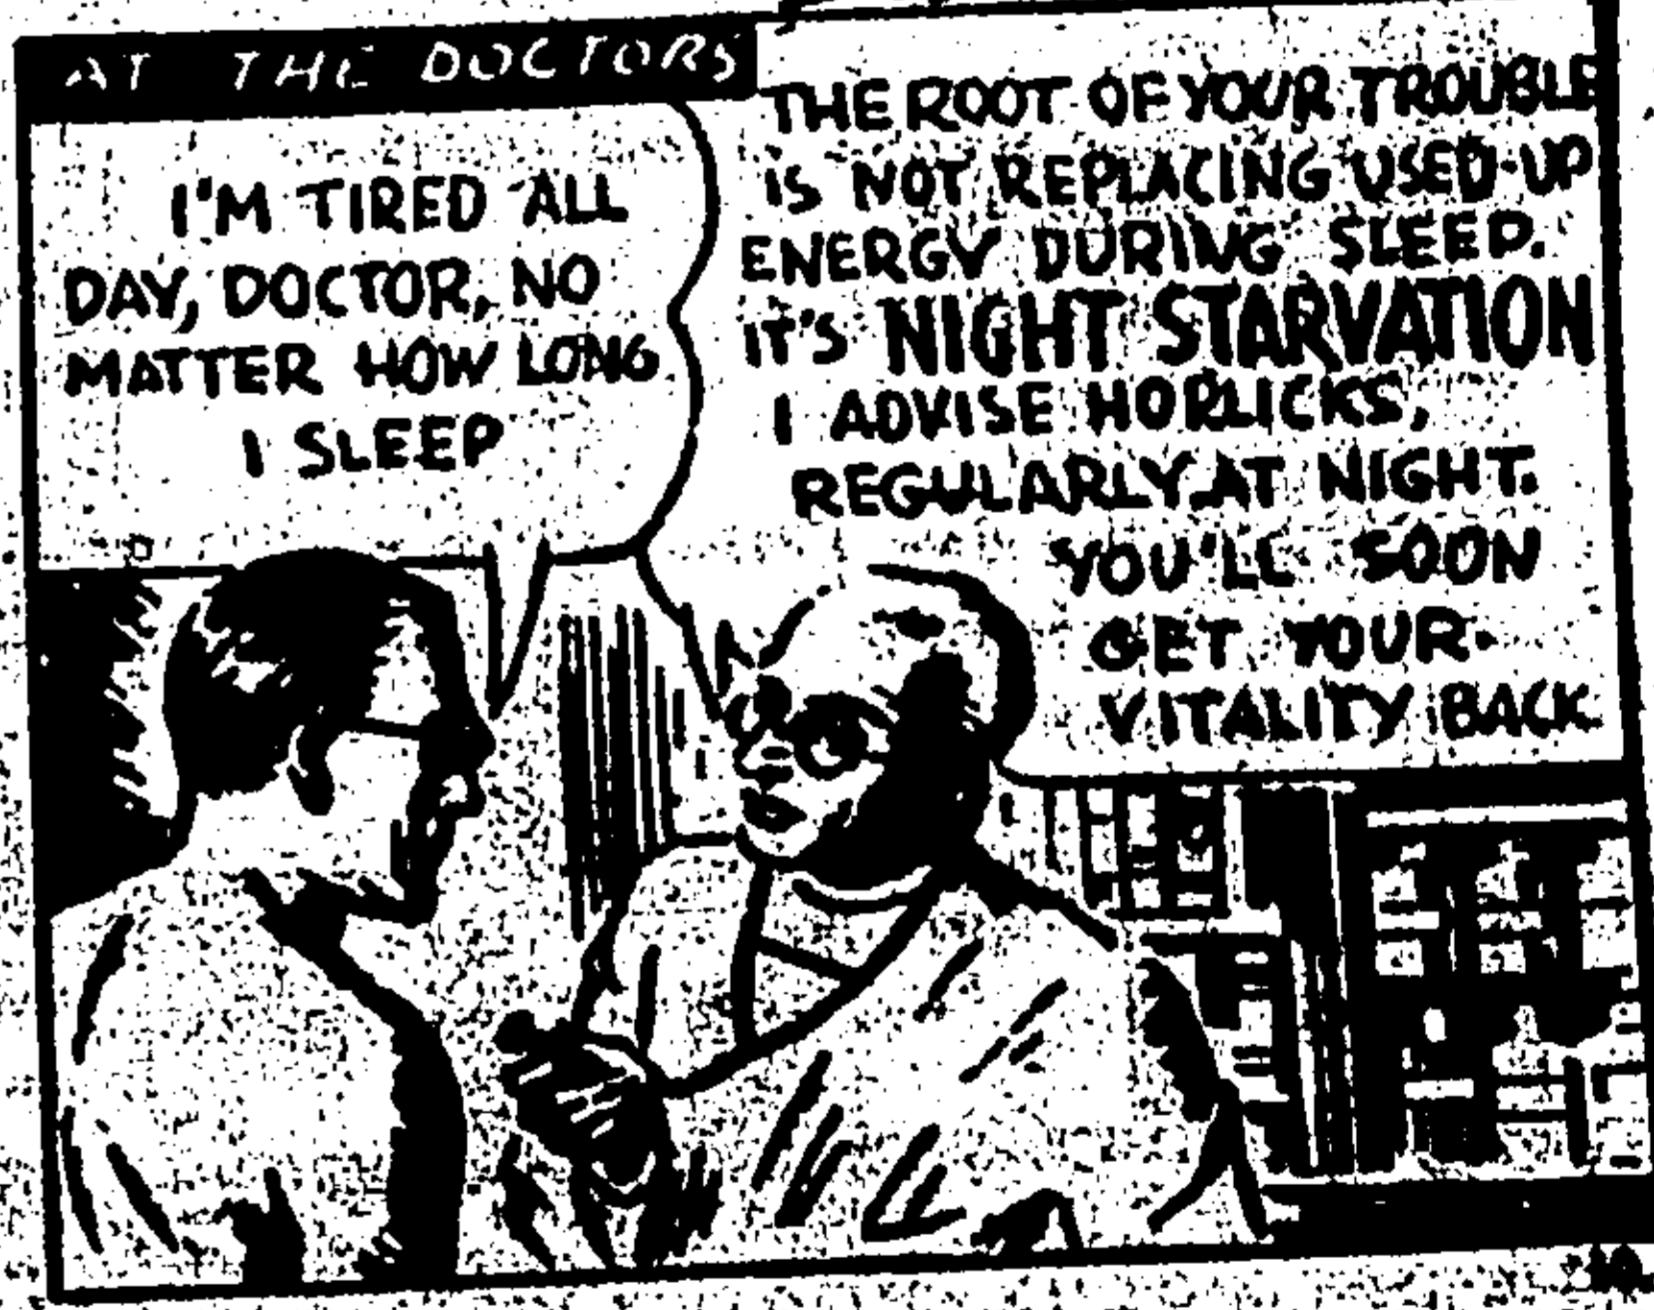

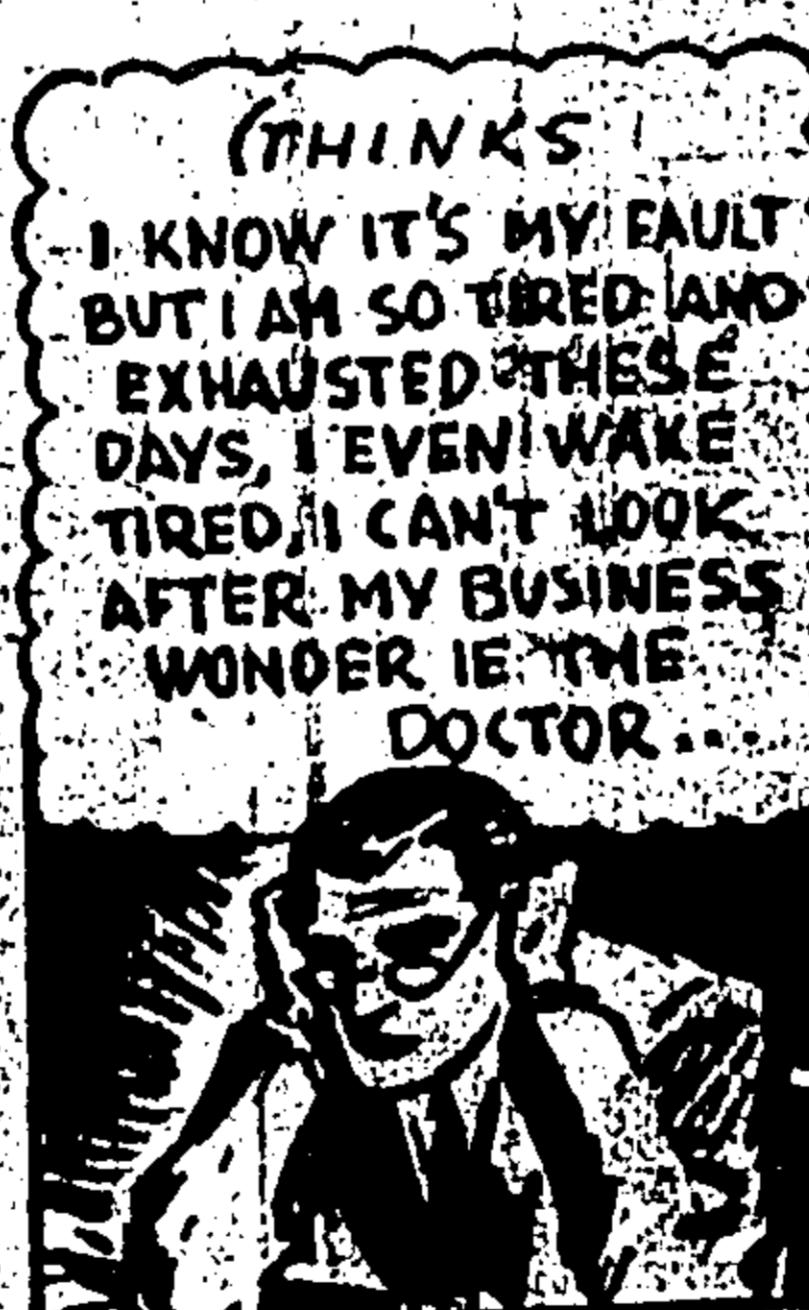

The return journey will begin on September 24.—Trans-Ocean.

Chamberlain Hopes From Talk With Hitler

London, To-day.

Enquiries in usually well-informed quarters suggest that the Chamberlain-Hitler talk was not confined to the immediate difficulty of Czechoslovakia.

It is asserted that other aspects of the European situation were raised, and it is a possibility that if the present position is eased by Anglo-French intervention, settlement may be followed by a conference to clean up, by the joint collaboration of the powers, other European sores, notably Spain. — Reuter.

The British cabinet met at eleven o'clock to discuss the Anglo-French ministerial talks. The session was presided over by the Prime Minister and excepting Lord Stanley, Secretary for the Dominions, who is at present on his way home from Canada, all members of the Cabinet were in attendance.

At 1 p.m., the Cabinet Ministers were seen leaving Downing Street.

NO COMMUNIQUE

No communiqué has been issued nor have any details of what occurred been revealed.

As far as is known no further meeting of the cabinet is contemplated for the time being. During the session, Downing Street was closed to the general public who were also not allowed to congregate in Whitehall.

King George returned to Buckingham Palace from Windsor Castle during the forenoon and received the Prime Minister in the course of the afternoon. The atmosphere prevailing at the moment can be described as one of "restrained" optimism. No attempt, however, is made to overlook the fact that apart from the attitude adopted by Czechoslovakia, much opposition is expected in the Commons as soon as Parliament reassembles.

CITY DOUBTFUL

The London stock exchange made a dull and irregular showing. City quarters have adopted the view that although the prospects of a pacific settlement have improved, the crisis itself is not yet past.

The bullion market reflected the difficulties confronting arbitrators and the price of gold fell 2½d to 144½d.—Trans-Ocean.

SPECULATION DEPRECATED

London, To-day.

The Cabinet met yesterday morning and it is presumed heard a report on the results of Sunday's discussions between the British and French Ministers. No further meeting has been arranged.

Official quarters strongly deprecate speculation regarding the "policy to be adopted with a view to promoting a peaceful solution of the Czechoslovak problem," upon which last night's official communiqué stated that the British and French Governments were in complete agreement.

In London it is generally assumed that no authoritative information will be available at least until after the Prime Minister has seen the German Chancellor again.—British Wireless.

Preached In Hong Kong:WOMAN TO BE
PILLAR OF TEMPLE

FOR FIVE YEARS MISS DOROTHY F. WILSON, 45-YEAR-OLD WOMAN PREACHER, WHO HAS PREACHED IN HONG KONG, HAS TRAVELED THE WORLD UNDER DOCTORS' ORDERS TO REGAIN HER HEALTH.

Now, recovered, she has come back to England to share the heavy burden of another pastor who has been medically warned to work less.

Miss Wilson has been appointed Associate Minister at the City Temple — most important Free Church pulpit in the world — to the Rev. Leslie D. Weatherhead, who succeeded

Dr. F. W. Norwood two years ago.

Last February Mr. Weatherhead, who is the same age as Miss Wilson, had a breakdown.

Lord Horder warned him that if he continued to work at the same high pressure he would be dead within two years.

His associate will start work at the Temple next month.

K.C.'s Daughter

Dark-haired, quiet-voiced Miss Wilson is the daughter of Sir Courthorpe Wilson, K.C.

She suffers from spinal arthritis. That was why doctors sent her round the world.

"I am tired of travelling," she told the "Daily Herald," after preaching at Brighton yesterday.

"For years my home has been a ship's cabin. Now I am feeling better and I want to settle down in the country I love."

"While I was abroad I did not rest. For a year I was chaplain at Mills College, California, but the Pacific fogs did not agree with me."

"I preached in New Zealand, Honolulu, Hong Kong and Nanking."

Psychologist

"I took a degree in educational psychology at Oxford, and hope to help in the great work of psychological healing at the Temple."

"Conducted by properly qualified people, this kind of healing is of great value. Mr. Weatherhead has the help of five doctors who have made a deep study of pathological psychology. The superficial kind of faith-healing practised in some churches is dangerous."

"A study of the human mind should be an integral part of the training of every minister of religion. At the same time I am convinced that practical psychology will never supersede human sympathy and common sense."

Miss Wilson, who holds the degrees of M.A. and B. Litt., was ordained ten years ago, and has been minister at Carr's Lane, Birmingham, and at Westbank, Lancaster. She had her own church before doctors ordered her to leave England.

COLOURFUL CANTON PARADE MARKS MUKDEN INCIDENT ANNIVERSARY

CANTON, YESTERDAY.

A GIGANTIC TORCHLIGHT PARADE ESTIMATED AS CONSISTING OF MORE THAN A HALF-MILLION PEOPLE, REPRESENTING EVERY LOCAL ORGANISATION WAS STAGED IN CANTON ON THE 17TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE MUKDEN INCIDENT.

Madame Sun Yat San participated in the huge demonstration as a member of the Women's Brigade unit. Other distinguished people in the parade were Mrs. Chao, the "Mother of Guerrillas" and many Kuomintang leaders.

The demonstration was unique in that it represented a united front of all organizations in Canton, and included beside the Military Training Corps, the Publicity Bureau, and the Youth Corps, Rickshaw boys, stevedores, seamen, machine workers, woodworkers, newsboys, boxers, gold beaters, pancake makers and pig butchers were all represented.

Viewed from the roof of the Oi Kwan Hotel in Canton, the procession made a colourful picture, as flaming torches held aloft by the marchers lit up the Bund along the Pearl River. Led by officers in uniform on white mounted horses, the parade wound for about 5 miles through the many districts, applauded by throngs of onlookers.

Drums and gongs, as well as several bands accompanied the patriotic songs of the marchers, the most familiar being the "Volunteer Song" repeated from mile to mile.

Slogans such as "Defend South China," "Defend Wuhan" and "Don't forget Sept. 18" were shouted on the march. Huge floats and tableaux depicted various aspects and phases of the present struggle, dragon dancing and acrobatic stunts enhanced the lively picturesqueness of the parade, which lasted for four hours. —Our Own Correspondent.

Tsui Wai Pui Enters Final

WONG FUK-NAM NO MATCH IN HARDCOURT SINGLES SEMI FINAL

TSUI LED IN FIRST SET BUT SUCCESS NEVER IN DOUBT

(By "REFEREE")

Tsui Wai-pui, holder of the Colony Hardcourt Singles Championship, yesterday entered the final for the second consecutive time when he beat Wong Fuk-nam in straight sets by 6-4, 6-1, 6-3, and will now meet his younger brother, Tsui Yun-pui in the final.

WALKOVER FOR FINCHER AND REMEDIOS

Owing to the fact that George Choa has not recovered sufficiently to allow him to play to-day, E. C. Fincher and A. V. Remedios have been awarded a walk-over by Omar Rumjahn and Choa and will meet the Tsui brothers in the semi-final, probably to-morrow.

The Champion proved much too good for Wong Fuk-nam, who was outpositioned and outgeneraled for almost the entire match. Tsui took some time to get properly settled, however, and was led, 4-1 in the first set before he found his true form to take the next five games in a row for the set.

Tsui's backhand drives to Wong's deep left-hand corner had the latter beaten practically every time and as a result of making his opponent run from corner to corner along the baseline Tsui soon established a commanding lead of five clear games in the second set. Then, for reasons known only to himself, he conceded the sixth game to Wong and took the seventh for the second set.

BOLD FRONT

The third set found Wong Fuk-nam putting up a bold front and he scored repeatedly with some stiff forehand drives and backhand slices which caught the champion unawares.

Tsui was clearly on top, however, and delighted the gathering with magnificent stroking on either hand and emerged successfully in the third set at 6-3 for set and match.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 24

(Umpire—Dr. J. Smalley. Line Judges—As for Saturday).

COLONY HARDCOURT TITLES

Remaining Matches Arranged

Weather permitting, the Hardcourt Tennis Championships of the Colony will be concluded by next Sunday.

The Championships will continue to-morrow evening with an excellent doubles encounter, the semi-final tie between E. C. Fincher and A. V. Remedios and the Tsui Brothers. This match will commence at 4 p.m., and the winners will meet the Rumjahn Cousins in the final next Sunday, when His Excellency the Governor will be present and will later distribute the prizes.

The remaining matches in the two championships are as follows:

First Interport Nets Yesterday

POSSIBILITY OF L. T. RIDE LEADING COLONY

(By "ADREM")

THE pleasing sound of bat meeting ball, about a dozen white-clad figures in energetic action, a profusion of perspiration and an air of concentrated keenness, marked the first Interport nets at the Hong Kong Cricket Club yesterday.

There was a very satisfactory turnout and the practice wickets—there were three of them—played very well after a Summer's rest.

There was of course a good deal of talk about prospects and I heard a piece of news which was unexpected but really rather pleasant, namely, that L. T. Ride is being seriously considered for the captain's berth.

A player with many years of local experience behind him, Ride is a useful bat and a brilliant field and above all is a good fellow

LOOSENING UP

It was interesting to see Beck in action once again. I only saw him bowl one or two balls and he was obviously taking matters very gently with the idea of loosening up his arm. He looked pretty useful with the bat, however.

Another interesting newcomer to the nets was E. M. L. Soares of Recreio. A left-hander who, it is evident, has been coached, he showed more than ordinary promise although at the moment, he is very prone to try and hit everything for six.

It was nice to see Alec Pearce, in his role of selector, pointing out several errors in his ways to Soares. A lot could be done at these nets for young blood if there were a bit more of this sort of thing.

LEG-BREAKS

I didn't see Whitmarsh bat but I noted that he has still not returned to his fast bowling. His slow leg-breaks, however, showed that they might be the means of breaking up a partnership but I wouldn't like to see him used too much against Donald Leach and Company.

Those on view yesterday included Capt. Whitmarsh, D. Mclellan, W. H. Colledge, G. Souza, A. R. Kitchell, K. Nazarin, E. Zimmer, A. H. Madar, L. D. Kilbee, N. A. E. Mackay, T. A. Pearce, H. Owen Hughes, F. H. Stokes, E. M. L. Soares and A. C. Beck.

The main feature of the fine new sports stadium, built at Helsingfors, for the 1940 Olympic Games, is a high tower, strangely reminiscent of the one at the Glasgow Exhibition. It is a wonderful landmark, being visible from a great distance. The Committee appointed to deal with the games in Finland have decided that the stadium is not large enough and plans are already in hand for enlarging it. A great deal of money for the stadium has been raised in curious ways. Various articles have been manufactured such as sports shoes, shirts, condensed milk, etc., labelled "Stadium" and profits have gone to the stadium fund. The whole Finnish nation therefore feel they have helped. Photo shows A view of the Olympic Stadium at Helsingfors, showing the Tower which is the main feature. (Copyright, Fox).

Sir P. Warner's Test Criticisms

PLAYERS SUPPORT FIVE-DAY LIMIT

Australians & "Doped" Wickets

(By AIR MAIL)

The views on "timeless Tests" expressed by Sir Pelham Warner, chairman of the England selectors, have provoked widespread discussion. Sir Pelham said he was opposed to "timeless Tests" in this country and that over-preparation of wickets is the bane of cricket.

Opinion among cricketers yesterday seemed to be overwhelmingly in favour of ending "timeless" matches in this country, and there was also support for the criticism of the preparation of wickets.

Members of the Australian team are generally in favour of Sir Pelham's suggestion that Tests in England should be limited to five days.

I gathered this during a discussion with some of them at their hotel in London yesterday.

The team manager, Mr. W. H. Jeanes, did not wish to express an opinion before he has placed his views before the Australian Board of Control, but he pointed out that "timeless Tests" had worked out well in Australia.

DISCUSSION AT LORD'S

"We discussed the whole question at Lord's on July 27," said Mr. T. E. Evans, and Mr. J. M. T. Evans, the Australian Board of Control, met the representatives of the M.C.C. on the 27th. The result of the discussion he said. "The result was that the Board in Australia and I will discuss it further with them on my return,"

"Whether we are in favour of the suggested compromise between the Australian desire for timeless Tests and the suggested five-day limit, you will probably have learned for yourself."

WOULD BE SUFFICIENT

"A five-day match in England, where there are six hours' play a day, is equivalent to a six-day match in Australia, where play last five hours a day. You can take it that that six days would be sufficient to finish a match in Australia."

Asked his view on so-called "doped" wickets, Mr. Jeanes said:

"I do not really know what a 'doped' wicket is. If you mean a very care-

SMAILES MAKES YORKSHIRE HISTORY

London, September 7.

Frank Smailes, the Yorkshire all-rounder, and former Forfarshire professional, yesterday completed the "cricketer's double" of 1000 runs and 100 wickets for the first time in his career. In doing so, he became the first Yorkshireman to achieve the feat since 1926, when Wilfred Rhodes and Roy Kilner each did so.

BRADMAN'S SILENCE

The Australian cricketers gathered from the London clubs were told that if five days were allotted to Test matches in this country, the game would not develop into a farce, as the batsmen would still have to go for the bowling if they wished to force a victory.

Bradman, who was still in bed yesterday, rating his injured leg, told me that he had no opinion to offer on the question at this juncture.

"The statement on the subject attributed to me in one of the London evening papers is not correct," he said.

Mr. W. H. L. Gist, the Lancashire captain said, "I am sure the great majority of English cricketers are in hearty agreement with Sir Pelham."

The finals of the annual swimming sports of the Army Children's Schools, in Hong Kong Area will take place at the U.S.R.C. Pool, by kind permission of the Committee, on Friday, September 28, 1938, at 3 p.m., admission being by invitation only.

The sports are held under the patronage of His Excellency Major-General A. W. Bartholomew, C.B., C.M.G., C.B.E., D.S.O., and Mrs. Bartholomew will distribute the prizes at the conclusion of the sports.

Competition is very keen between the Hong Kong and Kowloon Schools for the various trophies, particularly the Championship Flag, presented for annual competition some time ago by Major-General J. W. Sandilands, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O.

Last year it was won by Hong Kong Schools.

In the Colony Inter-Schools Open Relay race for the Bartholomew Challenge Cup, the teams competing are Queen's College, La Salle College, Army Elder Children's School, Hong Kong, and Army Elder Children's School, Kowloon.

The competition is restricted to children under the age of 14 years.

MORE MISHAPS AT VALLEY

(By "RAPIER")

Accidents again featured this morning's training at the Valley, but fortunately none of them resulted in injury of a serious nature.

The first involved J.C.I. No. 53, a new 1939 Australian pony belonging to Mr. J. H. Jessen, when it threw its Russian riding boy near the 2 mile post and then ran back to the stable.

J.C.I. No. 47, another new Australian pony belonging to the "Eve" Stable, was the cause of its Russian riding boy being thrown. The pony and rider came down together, but, beyond a scratch on the elbow, the rider suffered no serious injury.

Mr. Chan, a novice jockey, took out Cuban Love, a 1938 China Subscription griffin, but after galloping the last quarter mile, the pony ran away with him. The rider was unable to stop the pony, and when nearing the 1 3/4 mile post he was thrown. He was shaken up, but was apparently none the worse for his experience.

ANALYSING A DUPLICATE HAND

We are continually amazed at the number and variety of contracts that are arrived at on a single hand of Duplicate play.

One would think that there might be two, and at the most three possible ways of bidding the same hand. But such is not the case. To begin with there are the "safe" bidders, who believe in bidding as accurately as possible. (In the hand below they arrived at a contract of three clubs and made only, which indeed was all the hand merited). Then there are the "fancy" bidders, who generally aim at a three notrump contract by starting off with a bid of a suit in which they are weak in order to deter the opponents from leading it. Finally, there are the gambling type bidders, who always try for the maximum score possible. They are never satisfied with average, preferring to shoot for a top score which they may make if all goes well. Several players of this type arrived at three notrump on the hand below, but this was not

One West player, opened his fourth-best spade, this lead promptly presenting Declarer with his contract, and an overtrick.

All the other Wests opened the King of spades, but then had to decide on a shift in order to get their partners in. Several players led a heart, on the assumption that since South had not supported the suit, East might well hold the ace. They didn't stop to realize that if their guess were wrong and Declarer held the ace, it would be over. Furthermore, if East actually did hold the ace, and the contract was notrump, the hand had a diamond and two of Declarer could run off and score in the minor and

CHAMBERLAIN AND HITLER LIKELY TO MEET TO-MORROW

Godesberg, To-day.

That the second meeting between Hitler and Mr. Chamberlain will take place here to-morrow is regarded as practically certain, although official confirmation is still lacking.

Life in this small Rhineland town is already under the influence of the impending event of world significance and last evening there were scarcely lodgings to be had at any price.

A great influx of German and foreign journalists is awaited to-day and it is stated that representatives from the German Foreign Ministry will also arrive. —Trans-Ocean.

SHANGHAI TRADE

Hankow, To-day.

Customs statistics reveal a favourable balance of trade at Shanghai last August.

The total import for the month was $20,773,879 and the total export $21,140,923, resulting in a favourable balance of $367,544. —Central News.

"TRAITORS" IN SUDETEN GERMAN CAMP

Berlin, To-day.

"Prague Drops Its Mask," says the "Voelkischer Beobachter" with reference to reports that the Sudeten German party has split into number of groups, some of which are seeking to come to an independent arrangement with Czech government.

If one took the trouble of counting these renegades, remarks the Nazi organ, it would be found that they could all be accommodated in a couple of Prague omnibuses. Politically, they are not worth the money with which Dr. Benes is filling their pockets and it is hardly likely that France and England will make the same mistake as Mr. Knox did with the Max Braung Guard in the Saar struggle.

At best, they will merely serve to swell the ranks of the emigres. These separatists are despicable traitors to their race.

By far the bulk of German Social Democrats in Czechoslovakia has become mindful of its racial affinity and has joined the big army of Sudeten Germans now awaiting with joyful confidence and proud certainty the early victory of the just cause. —Trans-Ocean.
